The 2019 Yulee Elementary School Black History/Presidents' Day Oratory program was once again a success. Students chose a prominent African American historical figure or a President and delivered a speech in first person as the historical figure or a relative telling about his or her life. Each orator walked across the patriotically decorated stage to a podium where they delivered their speech to family and friends. Each student who participated received an 8 x 10 color photo of themselves delivering their oratory and an "Oscar" trophy for their performance. One parent remarked, "What a great experience for these children to have the opportunity at such a young age to speak on a stage in front of a crowd of people. They all did such a wonderful job." This program was sponsored by the Yulee Elementary Library, with Chandra Solis and Jason Kirchner behind the scenes. Much fun was had by all who attended.
